Dear parents and carers,

It has been a quiet week in school, but the children all have been busy working! We have been making the most of the sunny weather and planning activities outside for the pupils to do.

Some students in Post 16 have this term started work for their Duke of Edinburgh Award and as such have been sailing at Caldicotte.

The after school sports club on a Tuesday have been climbing, abseiling and indulging in crate staking challenges!

The students who are new to Post 16 have really settled into their individual timetables and are especially enjoying their morning at SNAP.

Daffodils are Class of the Week

Daffodils have been exploring aspects of the Romans as part of our history topic work. We all enjoyed a long afternoon cooking up Roman dishes including cabbage with leeks and spices. Joshua loved getting in and tasting all that lovely food, Jasmine enjoyed smelling the spices and telling us that she really liked the coriander. Charlie Ann is our star at cooking and she worked with a will at preparing the vegetables. Megan took control of the saucepan and stirred in all the ingredients. We all tried the resultant dish which we thought was certainly tasty.

On Monday of this week we visited the Roman Villa at Bancroft for a Roman picnic. The weather was fine and dry so we could sit on the ground in the original dining room to enjoy ciabatta bread, olives, grapes and grape juice. The staff liked the olives but the children preferred grapes.

We are still looking forward to exploring making pots with clay and having a go at mosaics as we carry on with our Roman experiences for the rest of this term.

As you can see we have all been very busy!

Have a good weekend everyone
Ruth
